INSTRUCTIONS:

1. First, each person should decide if he/she is going to paint the canvas in realistic colors that represent the lighthouse or just "free paint" the design in whatever colors he/she wants.

NOTE: To paint the canvas in realistic colors, please download our Color Key from our website. Simply search "GP3332", and then locate the Color Key PDF document located underneath the item.

2. Mix your paint colors: Use the paper plate as a palette to mix your paint colors. To thin the paints, add a couple drops of clean water to the paint when mixing. If painting in realistic colors, refer to the Color Key as needed.
3. Paint your canvas: Working from the top of the canvas down, we recommend doing a simple base (or thin) coat of paint on the canvas of the colors you want to use. Let dry.

TIP: To speed up drying time, use a hair dryer to dry the canvas.

4. Go back over your base coat to add an additional layer of paint. Blend colors as you'd like using your brush. Let dry.
5. Add finishing details to your canvas with a third layer of paint. Blend paints as needed.

Fun! Facts! • Cape Hatteras Lighthouse

- Cape Hatteras Lighthouse protects one of the most hazardous sections of the Atlantic Coast, guiding ships around a 12 mile sand bar called the Diamond Shoals. The lighthouse is located in the middle of the Cape Hatteras National Seashore.
- There are so many shipwrecks in the area around the Diamond Shoals, it is called the Graveyard of the Atlantic. The Cape Hatteras Lighthouse received the famous black and white stripe daymark pattern in 1873.
- The Lighthouse Board assigned each lighthouse a distinctive paint pattern (daymark) and light sequence (nightmark) to allow mariners to recognize it from all others during the day and night as they sailed along the coast.
- In 1999 the Lighthouse was moved 2,900 feet over 23 days to its present location.
